Who is SAR Consultancy?

SAR Consultancy is a consultancy company committed to examining security situations from diverse perspectives to identify appropriate vulnerabilities and risks for its clients, and presents this in expert analytical reports tailored to meet its clients' needs. SAR Consultancy is led by an experienced team in the areas of terrorism and security related issues from both the practical and academic perspective. A range of experts are available at SAR Consultancy, who stem from the international law enforcement and security field, NGOs, academics, the public relations arena, international logistics and procurement specialist, etc. This ensures SAR Consultancy holistically assess the security environment through situational analysis techniques, while also having a wide range of expertise to draw on, to offer tailored solutions to its clients and/or to adapt to challenges or needs presented by clients.

What does SAR Consultancy Offer?

SAR Consultancy offers specific products for a broad range of users, with packages aimed at all needs and requirements. 'Off the shelf packages' are available and bespoke products can be provided upon request. Such products can include, but are not limited to, commissioned in country research or desk based research, security risk assessments, security reviews and evaluations, security reviews of behavioural change programmes, regional analysis, topic assessment, etc.

Why use SAR Consultancy?

SAR Consultancy is a small yet committed company, which is independent and flexible enough to ensure client's needs are met with a personal touch. SAR Consultancy values thorough analysis and provides a very high level of analytical reporting in a timely and professional manner. SAR Consultancy combines the practical with the academic in order to ensure a more evidence based assessment is provided to its clients. Accurate data may be difficult to collect, but through the use of scientific data collection methods, limitations of data availability and quality can be minimised; an activity SAR Consultancy actively works to achieve. SAR Consultancy is for the most part an open-source analytical service, but, where possible, it goes beyond this. It compliments open source material, with host country based networks and contacts in the field. This allows for verification and confirmation of information and data, which ensures a higher level of quality control and data availability, factors very relevant to the Nigerian context, as information can be notoriously difficult to access. Regular visits to the field also ensure that patterns and trends are discussed with the relevant actors in country.

Where are SAR Consultancy Active?

Ireland, the United Kingdom, the Balkans, Libya and Nigeria.

Who SAR Consultancy works to serve?

SAR Consultancy prides itself on providing valuable information to its clients, who can use it to adapt their security plans and responses as necessary. Clients come from a wide range of organisations; NGOs, the diplomatic core, private business, and governmental organisations, which ensure products, are presented from a range of perspectives.